IMPORTANCE OF PLANTING TREES IN ALBERTA

It is the season of the year when emphasis is laid by the Forestry Division of the Department of Lands and Mines on the importance of planting trees in Alberta, and the value of shelter belts to Alberta farms as a result. Since 1932 many hundreds of thousands of trees have been sent throughout the province for this purpose by the Alberta Forest Service.

This phase of the Alberta government's forestry work is now well known. Many agricultural areas have benefited from it, and many more will do so.

The protection from adverse winds created by shelter belts works wonders in home life and gardens. Growth is quickly advanced as a result of such shelters, to say nothing of the beauty of protecting foliage created by the trees.

Preparation for next year's shipments is now underway and the following rules and procedure in connection with applying for trees are given.

Trees, free of charge, excepting express charges covering shipment, are to be had by the Forestry Service to farmers in the province for the following purposes: For planting within natural poplar or willow bluffs; for replacements in established windbreaks or shelter belts; for additions to established windbreaks or shelter belts where the trees to be planted are set out close enough to the old plantation that they receive protection against wind, and in the case of conifers, against the sun, by the established trees.

Applications for rural schools and cemeteries will be given consideration.

Trees are not available for beautification only, nor for the establishment of new windbreaks or shelter belts. Persons requiring trees for the former purpose should secure them from commercial nurseries, and for the latter apply to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Tree Planting Division, Indian Head, Sask.

All applications must be filed and received in the office of the Director of Forestry, Administration Building, Edmonton, before January 31, 1944, otherwise they will not be given consideration.

A doctor driving up a steep hill in the north of England saw at an awkward corner, a group of people obviously greatly concerned about something. He thought they were rendering first aid to an accident victim, and hurried forward. Pushing his way through the crowd, he looked down and saw on the grass a young sailor, sound in wind and limb, eating a banana.

WHERE PEACE ABIDES

Peace, Peace! God help us find it.
We seek at home, we seek afar;
Resounding yet from earth's far corners,

Echoes War and still more War.

Peace, Peace! How shall we find it?
Not in tumults in the air and sea,
Not by bomb or bullet-swept Dominions;

Shall Nations set their people free.

No Sepulchres of Sculptured Art,

Founded deep in blood-sapped sod;

No ribbons ornaments—gold, silver,
bronze—

Can pacify our souls, O God.

Nor yet in blood-red poppies made

By crippled hands and blinded eyes—
Of wasted manhood, once our youth,

Born of woman, pure and wise,

Imprisoned deep within the human heart—

Held fast in chains of avid greed—

Dwells peace and love: Let men be strong.

That yet these prisoners may be freed.

Not in Sepulchres of Sculptured Art,

Founded deep in blood-sapped sod,

But in the Noble Acts of Men,

Help us find Peace, O God!

—Mrs. J. K. Adam.

DISTRIBUTION OF VEGETABLES PLANNED

A programme, in which all sections of the trade will co-operate, is underway, whereby the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will assure Canadian consumers of a reasonable supply of fresh vegetables throughout the coming season. Supply, distribution and reasonable prices of both domestic and imported fresh fruits and vegetables will be regulated.

Wartime Food Corporation, a crown company, is reorganized to be in a position to co-operate with the trade in problems of supply, distribution and price of fresh fruits and vegetables, especially those imported. As a first step, order-in-council places all such imports under import permit.

Price stability has been assured by placing ceilings on potatoes, onions, turnips, cabbage, beets, parsnips, carrots, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, citrus fruits and bananas.

LOST ALL SAVINGS TO BURGLAR

Vancouver, Nov. 13—Ernest H. Eldon, driller in a local shipyard, came off the night shift recently to find his room burglarized and all his savings, $2,750, stolen. "If I had the sense to put that cash in a bank, I wouldn't have lost the $2,750 to a burglar," he said.

"I'd been saving that money to buy a house and all I've got left after months of work is a battered strong box. I made the mistake, you see, of keeping that money by me instead of putting it in the bank every pay day. Now I've got to start at the beginning again, but I'm going to stay at my job as a driller until I've got the money to buy that house. No more foolish risks for me. From now on I'm letting the bank keep my cash safe. It's tough luck, when you're getting on in years, to lose the thing you've been counting on, but what I want to do is to let other people profit by my loss. Don't take chances—let the bank take care of your money and then you'll have it safe and sure for the things you want to buy when the war's over."

COST OF LIVING

BONUS INCREASED

Following increase as of October 1st of 1.4 points in the adjusted cost of living index announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the National War Labor Board has issued an order that the cost of living bonuses will be increased accordingly, commencing on November 15th. In the case of adult male employees, and of others receiving weekly wage rates of $25 or more per week, the amount of the weekly increase is 35 cents, and for male employees less than 21 years of age and female employees whose wage rates are less than $25 per week, the increase will be 1.4 per cent of the weekly wage rate. The maximum weekly bonus will now be $4.60 or 18.4 per cent of the weekly wage rate as the case may be.

The Board's general order does not affect the provisions of its special direction made last June for manual workers in the construction industry.

WATER SYSTEM BEING EXTENDED TO NORTH SIDE

The town has a gang of men excavating for extension of the water main from Seventh Avenue to the north area, which is rapidly building up. The pipe line will be laid across under the bottom of the river bed, and advantage is being taken of the extremely low river water. With extension of the water to the north side, that area will build up rapidly.

Czechoslovakia

AMONG THE FIRST of the smaller nations to fall under Nazi domination was the Republic of Czechoslovakia. Since that time, the Czechs in exile have continued to fight for their independence, led by their premier, Edouard Benes, and by Jan Masaryk, son of Thomas Masaryk, the founder of the republic. Recently, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the day on which Czechoslovakia became a free and independent state, was observed, and tributes came from all parts of the United Nations to the people of that country, who have so steadfastly upheld the ideals of democracy. Although their country has been occupied, and the people there subjected to all forms of Nazi persecution, the Czechs both at home and in exile, have fought the enemy in every possible way, and have never faltered in their determination to re-establish democratic government in their country when the Germans are driven out.

Long Struggle For Democracy

Czechoslovakia was formerly a part of the Austrian Empire and for many years her people struggled for their independence. This was finally achieved after the First World War, and following the Versailles Peace Conference the Republic of Czechoslovakia was created. Thomas Masaryk, who was the first prime minister, was a great leader, and under his guidance the people of Czechoslovakia established a system of government, which embodied all the democratic ideals for which they had been fighting for many years. Having gained their independence, they desired to live at peace with other nations. At the same time, they realized the vulnerability of their position in Europe, and they were well prepared to resist invasion. They did resist the Nazi attack, but were outnumbered in men and machines by the then mighty German army.

Small Nations Need Security

Czechoslovakia was attacked and overcome at a time when the other democratic nations could not help to avert such a disaster. Since that time observers have seen in this event a graphic collective security. It has been pointed out that no country in the world adhered more strongly to the principles of democracy, or desired more to protect it. They were powerless against the attack of a mighty and uncompromising adversary. It is clear that if, in the future, nations are to be safe from this sort of violation, we must remove the danger that Germany will ever again build up the military might which made it possible for her to destroy the greater part of the continent of Europe in the early months of the war. The people of Czechoslovakia, and the other oppressed countries, will look for some provision for their future security, when plans for the reconstruction of Europe are completed.

SQUASH AN IMPORTANT VEGETABLE

Squash is becoming an important vegetable in our diet. If more was known about the varieties and nutritional value of this vegetable, you would probably use it more often. We'll consider the varieties first.

Winter—These varieties mature in the fall and will keep well into the winter. Some may be stored in a dry room at a temperature between 50-60 degrees F. The winter squash varieties are Acorn or Pepper (small and green), Golden Hubbard, Hubbard (green), Banana squash, Golden Table Green. You may not have realized winter squash is an excellent source of Vitamin A.

Summer—The summer squash in the winter varieties and will not keep as well. The straight neck, White Bush, Scallop and Zucca are the most common types of summer squash. Their mineral content is similar to the winter varieties, but they are much lower in Vitamin A.

Next, we'll consider the summer squash. You have probably been serving your family over baked or mashed squash and found they tire quickly of these two. There is no need for monotony in your meals when you are serving winter squash. It lends itself to many combinations and uses in a wide variety of ways. As a dessert, main dish, vegetable or soup, make its appearance in any course.

In preparing squash you should wash it, remove the seeds and pit it and cut to desired size for serving.

Baked Squash—prepare as above, add brown sugar. Steam until partially tender, then add salt and butter, season, sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and finish cooking in hot oven.

Squash and Pepper Casserole—prepare as above, cut squash into $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch slices and bake at 350 degrees F. for 35 minutes in a covered casserole with thin rings of green pepper, a little onion butter, bread crumbs and eggs, \$1, and an ice cream cone 20 cents.

Motor cars converted into armored drawn vehicles are seen today in Kingston, Jamaica. Petrol-driven vehicles have vanished.

See Reduction In Large Surplus Of Cereal Grains

OTTAWA.—Requirements for meat, dairy and poultry products will continue to tax available supplies in 1944 while the large surplus of cereal grains begins to look "less formidable" in view of probable post-war needs and the present rate of disappearance, the agricultural department said.

"It was realized that over-all agricultural output from now on will tend to be limited by manpower, equipment and fertilizers as well as available cropland," the agriculture department said in a review.

Demand for wheat continued strong, with both Australia and the Argentine anticipating smaller crops this year. War development appeared to be opening up further areas to which wheat might be expected to move.

Although production objectives for beef and veal probably will not be attained in full, the deficiency so far as these two meats is concerned will not seriously affect the total meat supply, the review said.

Beginning with the last week of August, cattle marketings for six weeks showed an increase of 100 per cent over the same period a year ago, which had been marked by a slump.

"As a result, beef supplies have continued adequate to meet requirements for civilian rationing and for special priority users, and in addition some beef has been stockpiled at the direction of the meat board for possible export."

"No large surplus has yet developed for this purpose, however."

Although the new British bacon agreement called for Canada to provide 900,000,000 pounds in two years, as against 675,000,000 pounds being shipped this year, the review said no surplus of hogs is likely to develop.

Any additional quantities made available for export probably would be quickly sold.

SPANISH DIVISION

Withdrawal From Russia Is Being Incorporated Into German Army

LONDON.—Reliable sources reported that the bulk of the Spanish Blue division, an estimated 14,000 "volunteers" for service on the Russian front, was being incorporated into the German army after being withdrawn from the Soviet Union.

The informant said every man in the Blue division had received word from Gen. Francisco Franco that he could come home if he wants to, but adding the wish that he join the German army.

Only about 400 members of the division, most of them incapacitated, were understood to have returned to Spain.

The Blue division was reported to have been in the vicinity of Koenigsberg, East Prussia, for some time. Informants recently in Spain said its men were being absorbed by the German army singly and by units.

Every man of the division was said to have taken a personal oath to Adolf Hitler when he went to Germany from Spain, and therefore even without Franco's expressed preference it would have been difficult for them actually to leave Germany.

Several Thousand Soldiers Will Help In Bengal's Famine Districts

NEW DELHI.—With army assistance, food deliveries into outlying starvation districts of Bengal are being doubled, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, Indian army commander, said.

He told a press conference that several thousand soldiers would be working in Bengal distributing food in areas where distribution bottlenecks have developed.

Normal deliveries of 900 to 1,000 tons of food daily into up-country districts are being increased to 2,000 daily, he added, and an additional limited amount of medical assistance is being provided to combat outbreaks of disease.

Seventy to 90 persons still are dying each day in hospitals in Calcutta where they were taken too late for revival from starvation and disease.

Allies Sink Five U-Boats A Week In Last 3 Months

LONDON.—The Allies sank nearly five U-boats a week the last three months and went further ahead of the undersized raiders by holding merchant ship losses below that figure, the British and United States governments announced.

Reporting approximately 60 Nazi submarines sent to the bottom in the period, the statement said the attraction between U-boats and merchant ships in October was the best of the war.

The continued success of the anti-submarine campaign brought to more than 150 the number of Axis underwater raiders destroyed in the last six months, said the statement issued under authority of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

It declared Allied air and surface assaults had so far proved themselves able to "cope successfully" with the new Nazi U-boat weapons and tactics.

Merchant ship tonnage lost in the three months was announced as less than half the losses of the previous three months.

"Our tonnage losses from all causes in October were the second lowest of any month of the war," the statement revealed.

Text of the announcement:

"The following joint Anglo-American statement on submarine and anti-submarine operations is issued under the authority of the president and the prime minister:

1. During the months of August, September and October approximately 60 U-boats were destroyed. This brings to more than 150 the number of U-boats destroyed during the last six months. The record of the last three months is particularly gratifying because during most of this period fewer U-boats were operating, fewer targets were presented for our air and sea forces.

2. During August, September and October merchant ships were destroyed by U-boat action. The ratio of U-boats to merchant ship attrition during October was more satisfactory than in any previous month. Our tonnage losses from all causes were the second lowest of any month of the war.

3. Merchant ship tonnage lost to U-boat action during the last three months was less than one-half the merchant ship tonnage lost during the previous three months despite the fact that actual shipping increased.

4. The Germans have introduced new U-boat weapons and tactics. Thus far we have been able to cope successfully with the changing situation. The battle continues in full vigor."

Assure Supply Of Fresh Fruits And Vegetables

OTTAWA.—The prices board has announced a program aimed at assuring Canadian consumers of a "reasonable" supply of staple fresh fruits and vegetables this winter.

It said if it was hoped the program, already under way in co-operation with all sections of the trade, would assure an adequate supply, fair distribution and reasonable prices of all staple fruits and vegetables of both domestic and imported origin.

The board noted that price ceilings already have been announced for potatoes, onions, turnips, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, citrus fruits and bananas.

To cope with the problem in cooperation with the trade, the board has reorganized the Wartime Food Corporation, a crown company organized 18 months ago to handle any necessary government purchasing and distribution of foods. It will deal especially with problems of imported fruits and vegetables.

As a first step, an order-in-council has been passed placing all imports of fresh fruits and vegetables under import permit. For the time being, a general permit is being issued authorizing the trade to carry on as usual and without the necessity of obtaining specific permits for individual shipments.

The board said present indications are that there will be "at least a normal supply" of winter and early spring fruits and vegetables in the United States and other foreign sources of supply, and that Canada will be able to obtain its normal share.

Kassel Has Ceded To Exist As Part Of Nazi War Industry

LONDON.—Kassel has ceded to exist as part of the Nazi war industry "for some time at least" the air ministry said after studying new reconnaissance photographs of the heavily bombed Ruhr industrial city of some 2,000,000 people.

All but 15 of the 315 acres in the built-up section of the city are devastated and nearly half of the rest of the city, excluding the suburbs, is destroyed, the ministry said commenting on pictures taken following Allied raids Oct. 14 and Oct. 22. The two 22 raids caused fires which burned for two weeks. Kassel has been bombed heavily five times in the last six months.

The pictures revealed that 50 factories, some of which the Germans had given the highest priority ratings, were either destroyed or badly damaged. Among them were three plants of Henschel and Söhne, Germany's largest single producer of locomotives since the destruction of the Krupp plant at Essen. The three factories accounted for one-third of Germany's locomotive output as well as a large number of armored fighting vehicles and trucks.

NAZI RADIO STATION

German Weather Base Off Greenland Coast Is Destroyed

WASHINGTON.—Destruction of a German radio and weather base on an island off the coast of Greenland was reported to have been ordered by the German navy secretary.

The small but well constructed base, Knox said, indicated a plan to maintain it permanently. It included a radio station, power house, emergency generator and radio transmitter, defensive machine gun emplacements and food supplies.

FOOTWEAR PRODUCTION

OTTAWA.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported that Canada's output of leather footwear in 1942 was 33,066,389 pair valued at $67,166,456. The general average factory price per pair was $2.03 compared with $1.80 in 1941. Production in 1942 exceeded that of 1941 by five per cent. The bureau said most of the Canadian output is from Quebec and Ontario.

Vast Program Of Reconstruction Set For Britain

LONDON.—Prime Minister Churchill has created a ministry of reconstruction which will take the task of rebuilding Britain after the peace and has shifted Lord Woolton from the food ministry to direct the vast program, it was announced.

In a series of cabinet changes in connection with the new post, which carries with it a seat in the war cabinet, Lord Woolton will be succeeded at the food ministry by Col. J. J. Lewellen, British minister resident in Washington. Lewellen's place will be taken by Bert Smith, a Labor member of parliament and parliamentary secretary to the ministry of aircraft production.

Other changes: Health Minister Ernest Brown replaced by Henry U. Willink, Conservative, and gets nominal cabinet post of chancellor of Duchy of Lancaster; Lieut. A. T. Lennox-Boyce, Conservative, succeeds Smith at the ministry of aircraft production.

Lord Woolton, a self-made business leader whose administration of Britain's wartime food rationing has been one of the government's outstanding successes, will, as reconstruction minister, have supreme control of the rebuilding program and a degree of authority not before given to a member of the government.

Creation of this over-all reconstruction post, which had been forecast for several weeks, is Mr. Churchill's answer to long-continuing criticism that he was neglecting post-war planning.

Selectation of the 60-year-old Lord Woolton, who taught Britons to eat dried eggs with a smile and to accept a concoction of carrots and vegetables known as "Lord Woolton pie," was a political surprise but it was almost certain to receive public applause.

Lord Woolton, pilot Fred Marquis of until his election to the peerage in 1939, resigned all his business directorships in 1940 to enter the government and assumed the enormous burden of feeding the nation at war. In British eating habits but he managed to maintain a minimum basic ration and assure equitable distribution of the supply.

His appointment to the new post suggested that Britain's food supply, once one of the most critical problems, was well assured until the end of the war.

Lord Woolton's spokesman in the commons will be Sir William Jowitt, minister without portfolio, previously charged with co-ordinating post-war planning.

A native of Manchester, Lord Woolton was once a social worker before entering business in the Midlands.

As food minister, the silver-haired peer introduced all sorts of schemes from the national maximum meal price of five shillings ($1.10) to dehydrated for eggs, milk, meat and vegetables. He wheedled people into eating more home-grown potatoes and less imported bread.

BUILDING SUBSIDY

To Protect Farmers Against Higher Lumber Prices

OTTAWA.—Farmers who find new buildings essential for storing grain or housing livestock have been protected against higher lumber prices, effective in August, through payment of a 10 per cent consumer subsidy by the prices stability corporation, a branch of the prices board, officials said.

The prices board ruling says: "Any civilian purchasing lumber for use in assisting the primary production of essential foods is eligible for a consumer subsidy."

The subsidy is also payable to fishermen, co-operatives, unincorporated associations and incorporated farms.

STOCKHOLM.—A Berne despatch to the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said that a quadruprivate of Reichsmarschall Hermann Goering, Heinrich Himmler, Joseph Goebbels and Martin Bormann has been chosen to succeed Hitler if anything should happen to the German dictator.

The decision was taken when Germany's gauleiters met recently at Hitler's headquarters, the newspaper said.

Goering, head of the German air force, was reported appointed chairman of the quadruprivate.

A LL war industries need rags... handfuls of rags... pounds of rags... tons of rags. And you can help supply them. Without rag wipers to clean the cutting lubricant from planes, millers, drills, lathes, Canadian war workers would be inefficient, their output reduced, their efforts hampered. Without rags, explosive plants would slow up, aeroplane factories would find their production cut, and wheels of shell factories would dwindle. Start an old-fashioned rag bag in your house today. All kinds of old, worn-out, too small and otherwise useless garments are badly needed by war industries—everything from cotton underwear to old shirts and ties—from Grandpa's red flannels to Grandmother's seafarers corduroy jackets. These are real slivers of war which you can supply. Every rag in your home should go to war industries through your Salvage Committee. Clean out and clean up on Hitler!

In England railway companies have imposed upon themselves rationing schemes by which coal supplies for railway stations and offices are cut by 13,000 tons a year. Last year the period of train heating was cut both in spring and autumn, with a consequent estimated saving of about 30,000 tons of coal in the year.

S. Hall, general superintendent, Manitoba District, and now chairman of the committee. Weston has subscribed $153,000, representing 1,705 employees. This is more than $50,000 above their contribution to the fourth loan. Mr. George, who has managed the shop since the opening of the Canadian Pacific, has made a special effort to do the best he can for the workers.

Since the outbreak of this mechanized war no fewer than 176 apprentices from Weston Shops, have enlisted in some one of the three services, thereby transferring their activities from the railway to the armed forces. Mr. George made this statement, in accepting the victory loan pennant to the shop, which is the largest in the country. The number of the contributions of the small degree from the fact that such a pool of mechanically trained men was available when their services were required.

In 1939 the apprentice staff at Weston totalled only 100 boys. In the increased number of 176 is evident the result of the contributions of the shop, on the part of the technical branches of the navy, the army and the air force. In most cases the lads are given the opportunity to do the work for which they were trained at Weston. They are scattered now practically every theatre of war.

Twenty-four apprentices have chosen the navy, 10 the army, 10 the air force, and today Mr. George, president of the engineering staffs of Canada's ships list no fewer than 94 officers and ratings who only recently answered to the call.

Twenty apprentices are in khaki, many of them, Mr. George explained, in the ordnance or engineering corps, where the requirements make them most useful. Air pilots, navigators and engine mechanics, 52 are to be found in air force blue. Two of these lads have been recently missing in action, a comparatively small number in proportion to enlistment figures.

The Fifth Victory Loan pennant for a total of 91 per cent. of the staff subscribing is hoisted to the shop's flagpole at Weston Shops, Winnipeg.

Made Sure That Young Boy Got His Wanted Right

A boy, 11 years old, in Hereford, England, got a raw deal in a lower court. In fact got seven years in a reformatory, also the birch, and without due process of trial and hearing. The King's Bench reviewed the case and the preying magistrates who inflicted the penalty, two of whom were women, were exonerated by the Justices. It is a pretty good old England when off can be taken in the midst of the worst war in history to guard the civil rights of an 11-year-old lad—St. Catharines Standard.

Would Not Talk

Even The Queen Could Not Get Information From Stoker

The Halifax Herald says in a story referring to a recent visit of the King and Queen to Glasgow, relates an incident at a Merchant Navy hotel in that city:

Here the Queen asked Hugh McCutcheon, a stoker, how long it would be before he went to sea again! Saluting, the man replied: "I cannot tell ye that, Your Majesty. It would be careless talk."

There followed a brief chat and a royal handshake.

What a picture of an alert and loyal seaman, and his graciously courteous Sovereign! A smiling apology, and a handshake in recognition of a true man's worth.

None Will Escape

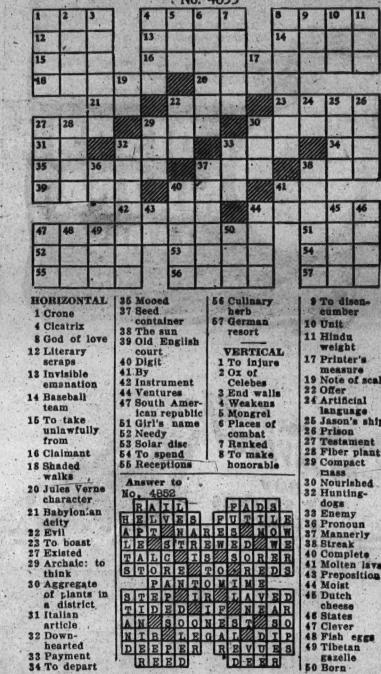

Germans Will Likely Wreck Cities In All Occupied Countries

Thinking of Rome, the mind naturally turns to other cities in enemy hands. How will Paris fare when the Germans leave? She escaped the worst when they entered, but when they vacate their temper will be very different. There is Marseilles, too, and many other French towns; Brussels, Antwerp, Rotterdam and Amsterdam also. When they must withdraw from Denmark, will the Germans spare Copenhagen? The trouble is that we are dealing with people in whom the spirit of the old Vandals, Goths and Huns is still alive. Rome has known these in the past—Saint John Telegraph-Journal.

Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio Bari radio said in a domestic broadcast that refugees from Rome report the Nazis have mined all important buildings there and had stated that "they want to leave only the memory of ruins."

CHAPTER XL

FROM a dark side-street where they had been hidden, Jonathan and Lord Farquhar approached the town house of Lord Farquhar on foot. Jonathan's plan was to gain entrance in some manner, find Anne and get her out of the place. The task would be difficult, since Farquhar would be aware that Jonathan would attempt something of the sort. Every door and window would be secured and guarded by his bodyguards, the men who, Jonathan "already knew, were willing to kill at a word from the master."

Jonathan peered through a break in the shrubbery surrounding the Elizabethan structure. A corner of the building was a few yards away, so close that he could see both the front and one side of the house. The verandah covering the entrance was deep with shadow, but the side wall was a mass of jutting eaves, pale yellow with the candle-glow of lighted rooms. The windows were too high for Jonathan to peer within, but he was sure that Anne, Jonathan, and Lord Farquhar were in one of those rooms.

"We'll have to find a window we know to be unguarded," said Jonathan. They crept and moved from the trellis to a rosebush closer to the rear of the house. From this new position he could see the windows of the house, but could not tell which room Anne and Farquhar were in.

There was no window, as there was none, that Lord Farquhar left unguarded. Contented with this checkmate, Jonathan was silent and still even when the blurt outlined the figure at the window had faded and gone.

Tucker shuffled closer. "There is only one way to get in, sir. There is a low-roofed porch at the back of the house. You could make your shoulders and crawl up on that porch top and go down one more chimney. The night is warm and the fireplaces will be unlighted. Once inside the house you could get past the plato on the guard at a side door and admit you."

"If you think the thing can be done, you may try the high-gabled roof," "go ahead."

ON HANDS and knees they crept over the ground to the side of the house, kept close to the wall until they reached the edge of the rear porch. Crowding against the building, so he could not be seen from any doorway, Jonathan gave Tucker a leg up and watched the former chimney sweep vanish soundlessly into the gloom above the porch.

It wasn't long before the thorny branches stirred and Tucker, panting a little, his face and garments streaked dark as the surrounding earth, was with Jonathan. "I did it sir. The king's grime commandant saluted triumphantly.

"I had to hide in the fireplace for awhile, but I found a door open."

Tucker let go of the unlocked door. In the narrow corridor within Tucker stepped into a small alcove where he had dragged Farquhar. Jonathan, acting just as quickly, planted himself before the door and his sword halted the swinging blade in midair.

Farquhar retreated, disengaged the blades, then attacked with desperation.

The sword was out, visibility was very poor, cut a whirling path through the air. Only the movement of his antagonist's arm enabled Jonathan to gauge the position of the sword. With the instant he blocked the blow, the shock sending a tremor up the length of his arm. Before he could thrust again, Farquhar had dragged himself out of range and lowered his blade.

His rage dissolved into a thin smile. "I never thought me to be weaker than Blaine and the others."

Farquhar remarked. "But this little exchange has awakened the thirst I have long had for the blood. You have been good to me, Jonathan. I will be good to you."

"I await your pleasure, my lord," Jonathan said, placing his own sword at rest.

"Regularity" is important any time, but it's vitally important in these busy war days when all of us are exposed to the elements. Don't you be "slowed down" by this common type of constipation due to lack of "regularity" in your diet. Recalls Gold Rush

Now Sending Supplies Up North Over The Old Yukon Trail

The R.C.A.F. pilot exhaled a long breath and vowed: "Believe me, if I ever take a trip like this again I'll have my parachute along."

He was also a sky-climbing aircraft, seated firmly on the plush seat of a passenger coach of the White Pass and Yukon Railway. As it crept along the dizzy cliffs of the White Pass behind this Alaskan sea port.

Hundreds of feet below a foaming torrent was like a thread in the V of the valley. As far as the eye could peer upward were cloud-swept peaks. And the three-foot gauge of the railway seemed to take up every inch of the ledge along which it wound.

Up to this valley 45 years ago men toiled on foot to reach the fabled gold of the Yukon. The railway construction crew was not far behind, blasting much of the right-of-way out of solid rock. Now the United States army has taken it over, and sturdy little engines pull over the 100-mile line to Whitehorse night and day with supplies for the Alaska Highway or the Northwest Staging route.

The White Pass and Yukon is one of the few railways that paid for itself as it was built. As it crept up the Pass in 1898 and '99 it packed freight to whatever point happened to be the end of the line and saved gold-seekers that much weary foot-slapping with backbreaking loads.

From the train today one can see faint traces of the famous Trail of '98, looking more like a goat-track (for goat trails only) than a footpath over which men clambered into the Yukon. Five thousand men were employed in building the railroad, which cost $100,000 a foot in some sections. The labor turnover was high. In one day in 1898, 1,500 employees quit en masse to join a gold stampede to Atlin, B.C.

The old landmarks are still there. The train still stops at Lake Bennett, where the gold-rushers paused to build boats and rafts to carry them down the lake. It's a very important stop, for the railway carries no dinner and the station restaurant at Bennett is the traveller's only opportunity to break his fast on a 10 or 12-hour trip.

A former Toronto girl, Pearl Swart, runs the restaurant with a crew of U.S. Army cooks, collecting $1 each from the passengers as they come in to sit at long tables and eat as much as they can tuck away.

IN NO TIME AT ALL

If trans-Atlantic airplane speeds ever reach 720 miles an hour, the flying time between the United States and Great Britain would be about five hours. Allowing for five hours' difference between Eastern Standard and British time, this means that a passenger who left London at noon would still find it noon when he arrived in New York!

Tanks first were used in warfare by the British.

Target Indicator

Allies Are Now Using A Super-Flare To Penetrate Mist

Allied fliers now are using a super-flare—called a "target indicator"—which can be set at night or day from the sub-astrophere through almost total cloud.

The new device, particularly valuable in night fog, made possible the record raid on Duesseldorf, the air ministry said, when the mist was so thick that the attack would have been difficult without it.

Pathfinder planes reaching the target at zero hour, light the area with flares whose colors are changed for each raid to prevent the Germans from knowing them. Red and green were used over Duesseldorf.
